

Walking (Unreleased)

October Fall

She checks her watch it's just past four
She's walking into the liquor store
She's inside out and quick to dream
With empty pockets she can barely breathe And she waits
And she waits Doesn't matter what they say
Just keep on walking by
You can open up their eyes
You'll get what's yours in time So just keep on, wishing
On the stars outside your window
I know my voice will guide you home And the only change that comes her way
Are the nickels she finds at the entrance way
Will someone please clean up this mess?
Her spilled milk life has stained her dress She's on the floor, someone get help
(And she waits)
She lost control, then she lost herself
(And she waits) Doesn't matter what they say
Just keep on walking by
You can open up their eyes
You'll get what's yours in time So just keep on, wishing
On the stars outside your window
I know my voice will guide you home
I know my voice will And she waits
And she waits Doesn't matter what they say
Just keep on walking by
You can open up their eyes
You'll get what's yours in time So just keep on, wishing
On the stars outside your window
I know my voice will guide you home And she waits
And she waits I know my voice will guide you home
I know my voice will

Songwriters

Pat John D'andrea; Clark Harrison Published by UNIVERSAL MUSIC-CAREERS

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>