Shudder To Think

Exodus

You hit rock bottom, now where do you go from here
Sunk-down, locked-up, all you do is disappear
All your promises are all just a pack of lies
You've got nothing, something you can't recognizeWhy don't you take some responsibility
You're pointing fingers and blaming everybody
Shudder to think if I lived like you
They would be shaking too, if they only knewI can't take any more excuses
No longer needed and you don't have any uses
Washed up, washed out, what more can I say
You better start filling out your resumeWhy don't you take some responsibility
You're pointing fingers and blaming everybody
Shudder to think if I lived like you
They would be shaking too, if they only knewEverything was there for the taking Too busy with the lying and faking
Drugged up, fell out, too many second chances
Nothing else to do under the circumstancesWhy don't you take some responsibility
You're pointing fingers and blaming everybody
Shudder to think if I lived like you
They would be shaking too, if they only knew
