

Catch the Spit

A Telemetry

indifference presses on my shoulder such a weight resistance battles the force induced by my lost faith all I ever wanted or asked for all I never considered real face time - take a look behind you nothing in those eyes

catch the spit
through time - finding a way next time - steady up your balance no place to hide

catch the spit
lost time - change your course or you'll catch the spit suspected caught in a line up all is caving in rejected to the path any rational mind can dwell all is set to give a listen all numb I lose my ear situation warrants a quick fix stagnant past - drives a need mutation of all unexpected lack of energy will make you concede

Lyrics submitted by m.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnllyrics.com/>