

Watch You Burn

Anchor & Braille

I'm not who you remember
I've moved on from what you know
Well this ain't the same old me
I'm ready, set
I'm ready, set, well here I goWe had so many dreams
You and I
We'd stare up at ceilings
For hours and hours at a time
Talking about tomorrow
And everything we had in mindIf I don't move on
Then all they'll ever be is dreams
Useless words, never realized
Come on and watch me catch fire
I want to watch you catch fire
Come on and watch me burnThis ain't nothin new
You can do it too
Honestly I'd rather not do this without you
Takes a little time
Put a face to the grind
And work as hard
Work as hard as you can
That's how this world works
See nothing's for free
Not even for me
Just gotta believe
Might take sweet time
A few endless days
But baby that's how we all get paid
If you don't move on
All they'll ever be is dreams
Useless words, never realizedI want to watch you catch fire
All the right moves, in all the right places
Ready to work my way up
All the right lines, to all the pretty faces
Gotta be tonight
All the right friends on a first-name basis
All about who you know
All the right moves
Not a moment wasted

Come on and watch me burn
Watch you burn
I want to watch you burn
Watch you burn
I want to watch you catch fire
Watch you burn
I want
All the right moves
Not a moment wasted
