Live For Today

3 Doors Down

Show me the road and I will find my own
You build your bridges and I'll burn down
So far away and all alone I roam
I'm taking chances in the here and now
And all you wonder is who's for sale
But you won't know now, and I won't tell
You're always hiding, throwing up your hands
While heroes ride again
God only knows all the places I've been
But I love this life that I'm livin' in
I won't look back to regret yesterday
We're not handed tomorrow so I'll live for today
Another day and yet another's done
Spending the life living within the past
I'll take a chance before the chance has gone
You never know when it may be your last
But still you wonder who's for sale
And you won't know now and I won't tell
You're always hiding, throwing up your hands
While the heroes ride again
God only knows all the places I've been
But I love this life that I'm livin' in
I won't look back to regret yesterday
We're not handed tomorrow so I'll live for today
We'll never know it when we run out of time
Until it's all over with and there'll be nowhere to run
We'll never say it, but we're over our heads
And we're drowning inside, all of these things we've said
God only knows all the places I've been
But I love this life that I'm livin' in
I won't look back to regret yesterday
'Coz we're not handed tomorrow so I'll live for today
God only knows all the places I've been
But I love this life that I'm livin' in
I won't look back to regret yesterday
'Coz we're not handed tomorrow so I'll live for today

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/