

Night You're Beautiful

Ladyhawk

Going down the day is long 'till the setting sun and I count the hours until you come and I call your name in the twilight town and I feel your kiss upon me

Night, you come to me so beautiful got my hands across the valleys of your skin and that gift you give to me the thing I need and lay my body down until the morning sun awakens me I love her

Darkness, oh you touch my soul and you fill my heart and you make me burn when we're apart and I shed my clothes and I shed the day and I thrust myself (F

!) into you

Night, you come to me so full of love and steal my heat and steal my brain and all my body and my heart you take from me the thing you need and in it's place you leave a hunger growing deep inside of me I love you
