Storm

Cory Lamb

A girl in a room
She's made a mistake
Another heartbeat keeps her awake
Everything's changed
No comfort in fear
Just struggles for answers
Everything's unclear

Would You stand in these waters
And in the waves as they crash in?
Would You calm this storm
And soothe these nightmares once and again?
This is my prayer
As she looks to You for help.
Would You calm this storm?

She's walking away
The heartbeat grows strong
She chooses the name and prays for her son
The wind blows strong
Yet quiet and still
Love prevails as it
Always will

Would You stand in these waters
And in the waves as they crash in?
Would You calm this storm
And soothe these nightmares once and again?
This is my prayer
As she looks to You for help.
Would You calm this storm?
Lord, would You calm this storm?
And soothe these nightmares once and again?

Wo-oah

Would You stand in these waters
And in the waves as they crash in?
Would You calm this storm
And soothe these nightmares once and again?

This is my prayer
As she looks to You for help.
Would You calm this storm?
Would You calm this storm?

(Hmmhmmhmmhm... hmmhmmhmmhm...)

Lyrics Submitted by Summer

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/