The Nations Are Waiting

Released August 23, 2008

Lead If I can just press, press in your presence behold the beauty of your face
If I can just press, press in your presence and never leave this place again
If I can just press, press in your presence and leave all my cares behind me
I will be whole, I'll still believe, I will just lay, lay at your feet
For I will be whole, I'll still believe, I will just praise, praise at your feet
Right here in your presence

Chorus If I can just press, press in your presence behold the beauty of your face
If I can just press, press in your presence and never leave this place again
If I can just press, press in your presence and leave all my cares behind me
