

Take This Body

Gill Landry

standing out on the edge of town hoping that you don't let me down all of the tears i try to hide rise up to haunt me with a vicious tide so take this body babe and hold me tight and give me more than flesh and bone take this body babe and treat me right make me believe were not alone sometimes i think i understand were only passing through this land but its not easy its not plain when my hearts filled with hungry pain so take this body babe and hold me tight
make me believe were not alone take this body babe and hold me tight
make me believe were not alone
