Something About Today

Screaming Trees

Gone so long and feeling so let down
Seems as though I'm living undergroundThere's something about today, I can't explainWalked on burning bridges so I said
I think I'll take another way insteadThere's something about today, I can't explainWar from sea to oily sea
Waves have washed home their disease
All the miles couldn't make it change
I might know tomorrow, not todayChased by shaded nightmares till I'm dead
Following most everywhere I treadThere's something about today, I can't explain
There's something about today
