

One In a Million

Backstreet Boys

Oh, she wakes up with the sun, she throws on her clothes
Hoping her car will start the second time around
The day has begun, the lines at the door
Serving up frappes until she cant take anymoreI see it in her broken smile, oh I Wish I could tell her, you're one in a million
You're going the distance, babe
You're gonna work it out some day
I wish I could tell her, you're one in a million, but
You never even look my wayNo, she never looks my way
She never, never, never looks my wayShe ties up her hair, her make up is smeared
Wiping the tears that she wants no one to see
She screams on the pain, I hear every word
Why dont you know how beautiful you areJust see it in my broken smile, oh I Wish I could tell her, you're one in a million
You're going the distance, babe
You're gonna work it out some day
I wish I could tell her, you're one in a million, but
You never even look my wayIf I could be the light to guide you through the darkness, baby
If I could be the one to change the ending to your story
Id be one in a million, yeah, Id be one in a million
Someday I will tell herYou're gonna work it out some day
You're one in a million
You're going the distance, babe
You're gonna work it out some dayOh, wish I could tell her
You're one in a million, but
You never even look my wayYou're going the distance, babe
You're gonna work it out some day
I wish I could tell her
You're one in a million, but
You never even look my way

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlrics.com/>