

Green Eyes

Discover America

You've got the biggest green eyes
They've ever seen
And in that red dress, there's no contest
You're the prettiest one around And you reach down in your purse
To check your phone
And already there's five guys tryin' to light it
When they realize That everybody wants to know your name
And they're just thinkin' of the perfect words to break the ice
But every time it's just in vain
'Cause you're not impressed but you're so polite That everybody wants to know your name
And they're just thinkin' of the perfect words to break the ice
But every time it's just in vain
'Cause you're not impressed but you're so polite I know, I'm not the sharpest knife, you've ever seen
I don't have the clothes
I don't have the hair
I know what's goin' on and I'm self aware And for some weird reason
That means more to you
Than what any two bit scene
Kid could say to you 'Cause everybody wants to know your name
And they're just thinkin' of the perfect words to break the ice
But every time it's just in vain
'Cause you're not impressed but you're so polite That everybody wants to know your name
And they're just thinkin' of the perfect words to break the ice
But every time it's just in vain
'Cause you're not impressed but you're so polite Everybody wants to know your name
And they're just thinkin' of the perfect words to break the ice
But every time it's just in vain
'Cause you're not impressed but you're so polite Everybody wants to know your name
And they're just thinkin' of the perfect words to break the ice
But every time it's just in vain
'Cause you're not impressed but you're so, you're so polite
