Lee Corey Oswald

You are perfectly miserable
We could have so much in common
We could waste our time at a coffee shop
Talk about how we hate our jobs
If I die on my way out
I enjoyed my
My date with you
My date with you
My date with you
The sound in truth but doesn't ask much
She settles in a city she doesn't care about
You asked have you ever wondered what she has against the thunder
If I left, I thought you were kidding
I left, I thought you were kidding
I'm afraid this is way too dull
What a pain a landscape on the walls of your skull
I want to write you the heaviest song
If I die on my way out
I enjoyed my
My date with you
My date with you
