

Godawful Things

Lake Street Dive

Only a devil could be so bold to break a heart like yours

No no, so cold but you've been there before

You're in a state of disrepair, you're an answer to my prayers

Well well, I'll be there Thank the good lord

For those godawful things

That brought you right back to me Only an angel can know there's love to find behind closed doors

In time you'll know when you're ready for more Though you have not a lot to say, let me roll the stone away

Through you I am saved
