

Water from a Vine Leaf

Beth Orton

And you start swimming and swimming
And swimming, and swimming
And you never stop swimming until you reach the ocean
And you're swimming into the sunset without me And I find myself suddenly waking up
And there are four young girls
Giving me water from a vine leaf
Just dropping it onto my tongue Nothing more, you surround me
Break on through, release me
Nothing more, you surround me
Break on through, release me Break on through, release me
Break on through, release me
