Addicted to Faith

Normal Like You

The temptation of desire
The worst of many flaws
And I was beckoned by an angel
Or what I presumed to beHer touch concluded meMy stomach turns as I embrace
Dishonest deception, your lies become you
No it wasn't worth it
I will never trust againA part of what I thought was me has died
There's not a place to run to
There's not a face to turn to
Remains of hope have buried us alive
How could I let it take me
Love is a calamityAngel please don't end meA time for desperation
You've chained yourself to me
But I'm still
Fighting your resistance
The shackles broken freeNow watch me walk awayMy stomach turns
As I embrace
Dishonest deception, your lies become you
No it wasn't worth it
I will never speak again
I won't let this be the endA part of what I thought was me has died
There's not a place to run to
There's not a face to turn to
Remains of hope have buried us alive
How could I let it take me
Love is a calamityNever could I have predicted
I made the mistake
I walked into your arms
I instantly became addicted to faith
Angel please don't end meAngel please don't end me
Angel please don't end me
Angel please don't end me
How can I let it take, life is a calamity
Angel please don't end me
I can never trust again
