How It Blows Your Mind

The Rambling Wheels

You can buy the world just for joy
Flick the switch and find the pain will disappear
You drift in and out lock jaw with nervous shakes
You claim that you've understood it allThen you're attacked by panic as you're coming down
You trip and fall flat on your faithAnd I say
You can take what you want
You can tell us what you feel
You can tell us how it blows your mind
And I say
You can fake what you want
But you can't fake love
I feel just fine straight you know
Maybe I will never see what you've seen before
I'm taking the long road but I'll learn it my way
I like my view, my view of the world from down here
