

In the Garden

Dolores O'Riordan

I see you
Playing in the garden
Outside my window You're like your father
I see right through you
Just like your father
I thought I knew you It's a panic in paradise
It's a panic, it's in paradise Round and round and round and round and round You can't come here
(Round and round and round and round and round)
You can't cry
(Round and round and round and round and round) You can't come here
(Round and round and round and round and round)
You can't cry
(Round and round and round and round and round) I see her playing
In the garden
I was once like her
You did this to me I don't remember
When this offense began
I don't remember
I can't undo what's done Round and round and round and round and round You can't come here
(Round and round and round and round and round)
You can't cry
(Round and round and round and round and round) You can't come here
(Round and round and round and round and round)
You can't cry
(Round and round and round and round and round) You can't come here
(Round and round and round and round and round)
You know why
(Round and round and round and round and round) You can't come here
(Round and round and round and round and round)
You know why
(Round and round and round and round and round) I'll keep my secret
With me until I die
I'll keep my secret
And I don't know why
Don't know why Round and round and round and round and round You can't come here
(Round and round and round and round and round)
You can't cry
(Round and round and round and round and round) You can't come here
(Round and round and round and round and round)

You know why

(Round and round and round and round and round)I can't go there

(Round and round and round and round and round)

I will cry

(Round and round and round and round and round)I can't go there

(Round and round and round and round and round)

I won't cry

(Round and round and round and round and round)Round and round and round and round and round

Round and round and round and round and round

Round and round and round and round and round
