

Fragile (feat. Brad Bell)

Craig Owens

Trace these black lines falling down my face
Just pray to God that this will not happen again
Memories flood the floor that made this place
So please don't tell me that this may be the end

Wait for me til words spill out
And you will see that I am sorry

My fragile soul has lost control again
And I cannot leave until you say you'll stay with me all my life
Please notice that I can't stay away from you

Now I'm left staring at our photograph
The one where I got lost in your brown eyes
I can't accept that you are just my past
And now my future will also be my demise

Come back to me, let words spill out
And you can see that I'm still sorry

No, I can't stay away
I can't stay away from you

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>