

Rolling Stone

Reuben And The Dark

Roll like a roll, like a roll, like a rolling stone
To the feeling of
Hot and coldRoll like a roll, like a roll, like a rolling stone
To the feeling of
Hot and coldYou took my body, you took my body, you took my body homeYou took my body, you took my body, you took my body homeIt's quite a sight for my sore eyes
And break my heart back into pieces
A city blackout and a sea of white
When all I want is to be aloneRoll like a roll, like a roll, like a rolling stone
To the feeling of
Hot and coldRoll like a roll, like a roll, like a rolling stone
To the feeling of
Hot and coldYou took my body, you took my body, you took my body homeYou took my body, you took my body, you took my body homeI said, well, I don't wanna die in the middle of a city
So they wrote on my headstone
Well, I don't wanna die in the middle of a city
No!Well, I awoke in your arms
I awoke, in your arms
I thought I saw
For the very first time
I heard the cries of a child
With the hands of time, not satisfied
How my lungs became ears, became eyesWell, I awoke in your arms
I awoke, in your arms
I thought I saw
For the very first time
Well, I heard the cries of a child
With the hands of time, not satisfied
How my lungs became ears, became eyesRoll like a roll, like a roll, like a rolling stone
To the feeling of
Hot and cold
