

Baltimore

Go Radio

Tomorrow I will climb aboard
A northbound train to Baltimore I'd hope we'd leave with lips and not a fight and Im not sure just where I'll be But I'll find you when I find sleep
And I'll think of times you spent with me so please Just keep your head on your shoulders and heart on your sleeve
So you're thinking about what you do to me
And take the time that I gave you and save it for me
So lets get carried away
not lose ourselves in the fight lets show the world we were right that we can make it through
And I may be leading the way but you will always be my light
And I will always love you I take a step into the rain to make sure i can feel again the way it hits my skin feels like a tear and I would love to be the song you sing to everyone for everything Just tell me when this melody gets clear 'cause i can hear you get colder and tell when you're numb and you're sure you're attached to the wrong one and i can tell you the time and the day this will come
So lets get carried away
not lose ourselves in the fight
lets show the world we were right
that we can make it through
And I may be leading the way
but you will always be my light
And I will always love you
I turned off the radio so that i could hear you breathe and i could watch you sleep and maybe in your dreams there could be me so everybody turn down the lights and forget the fact we're here the night and tomorrow I'm leaving
'Cause tomorrow don't mean anything tonight...

Lyrics provided by <https://damnlyrics.com/>