

Something Wrong

Elliot Matsu

There's something wrong here
I don't belong here
I feel strange here
Something's got to change here
I'm getting so scared
I'm having nightmares
There's something wrong here
I don't belong here

Trapped in another bar kicking tires on these cars
In sped up 4/4 time
I had a little talk with my brother about these twenty dollar glasses of wine
And I find something that tells me I'll never be free from my childhood pain
But you were always there for me, it took a little while to see
I'm lonely but you'll never hear me complain

There's something wrong here, I don't belong here No, No
I feel strange here, something's got to change here, Maybe it's me
I'm getting so scared, I'm having nightmares every time I go to sleep
There's something wrong here I don't belong here No, No

Sunny, sticky hot day, waiting for the subway, it's buzzing up in the square
And I know you've got to be a whole different woman now but I just can't help picturing you here
I've got a statue of the Buddha and I've got a guitar painted blue
I've got a rosary 'round my bedpost but I can't find a God damn picture of you

There's something wrong here
I don't belong here
I feel strange here
Something's got to change here
I'm getting so scared
I'm having nightmares
There's something wrong here
I don't belong here

Airplane on time, cocaine, red wine
Tight shirt, fake tits, stupid blurt, drunk wit
Quick bone, drive home, wake up, cell phone
Regret, repent, remember where the money went Airplane delay, wish there was an ashtray

Cute girl next seat, think of something dumb to say
Touch down, bag, cab, channel 10 shark attack
Quick smoke, diet coke, try to forget that my heart just broke Defending and pretending, ripping up and mending but noone ever gives in
I had a little talk with my brother about this stupid world that we live in

But I can honestly say, something real nice came along and changed my life today
And I may never understand what God's got in his master plan but I've got to believe that we're better off this way...

There's something wrong here
I don't belong here
I feel strange here
Something's got to change here
I'm getting so scared
I'm having nightmares
There's something wrong here
I don't belong here
