Boundaries

Alex Kozobolis

I stand here closed and open
Praying for the summer rains
Reaching into pull back the curtains
Ruling in this deserted land
I will let me go
My walls melt away
You have no boundaries
You cross my borders
You have no boundaries
You crash my borders
I lie here clothed and naked
Dam bursts to cool ocean waves
Black water cleans the highway
Resting in the washing away
I will let me go
My walls melt away
You have no boundaries
You cross my borders
You have no boundaries
You crash my borders
You are more than
All that is outside of me
You are more than
That which is inside of me
You have no boundaries
And You cross my borders
You have no boundaries
And You crash my borders
You have no boundaries
I have no borders from you
You have no boundaries
I have no borders
