New Dawn

Winterborn

Fall, don't be afraid to fall
You know you will rise up again, be stronger once more
Leave, leave all your past behind
Follow the dreams you made, illusions won't breakFacing life and it's hate
Wondering what did God create
Lying tongues, narrow minds will possess
But you will find your wayJust close your eyes under blood red skies
Down on your knees, feeling all inside
Life will go on, still waiting new dawnDo you believe, your destiny have been sealed?
When you accept it's real, tears start to bleed
Now realize, ghost from the past came alive
Just make you stronger to live, so be proud, it's your giftFacing life and it's hate
Wondering what did God create
Lying tongues, narrow minds will possess
But you will find your wayJust close your eyes under blood red skies
Down on your knees, feeling all inside
Life will go on, still waiting new dawnGuided by dreams through the darkest night
You know time will heal the scars of life
Listen to your heart, still waiting new dawnNow when all is said and done, there's no turning back anymore
Take a chance and believe, find new destiny
Oh, there will be new dawn, so carry onJust close your eyes under blood red skies
Down on your knees, feeling all inside
Life will go on, still waiting new dawnGuided by dreams through the darkest night
You know time will heal the scars of life
Listen to your heart, still waiting new dawnJust close your eyes, listen your heart
And realize, down on your knees
You know you will rise up againJust close your eyes, follow your dreams
And realize, oh, tears start to bleed
Just make you stronger to live
Just waiting a birth of new dawn

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/