

Cubically Contained

The Headstones

Good for me for a time
All hell's cubically contained
Staunched and bottled
Pressed and altered
And at the ready for the reigns
The first tiny little shadows
Of my creepy little thoughts
Inhabit all that matters
And I lose by default

And I'll never promise anything again
And I'll never promise anything again
And I'll never promise anything again

I've set a dozen 12 step traps
But they've slid by everyone
I never catch the little bastards
I really do with that they'd own up
Those paranoid little fuckers
Take their paranoid little time
And when the mood rolls in
They're bank robbin'
And I'm a hostage who will drive

And I'll never promise anything again

Now I can only do so much
And I will never deviate
I hear myself take a deep breath
And think I must have wanted it this way
I remember all those little traps
I could not keep them in place
They were never stationed anywhere
They were terrorized and maimed

So tonight I've set a vigil
And my shadows all that's cast
And the iron that's encased it
Is doing all that one could ask

And I'll never promise anything again
And I'll never promise anything again
And I'll never promise anything again

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com

written by HEADSTONES

Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>