Stained

Imperanon

Blinded by a betrayal scene No one there to keep my trust All these serpents in my head Make me see what I mustScarred heart and wounded mind My own blood now stains my hands Fueled with rage to stand and fight I will be the last who standsHaunted by a murder scene My weakness was my only hope Broken alliance, broken trust From now on I live for myselfBattered heart and hollow mind My revenge became my world I regret not things I've done Alone I stand, still I hurtI have no love for life anymore I no longer believe in the world Put your life in the hands of another And you sure will lose it allI will not break down and crumble Now that I've found my strength Show me the error of my ways And I will laugh at your faceI will not give in and stumble Now that I see right through you Try to make me change my way And I'll show you the reasons why
