Be My Lover

Morten Abel

It's everyone mans right
To kill a man, if threatened

It's everyone mans right
To kill a man, if threatened

Will it be alright
On this a kind of night
Will it be alright
Yeah, will it be alright
And there's a kind of land
Where a man can

Will you be my lover
Will you be my one to love
Will you be my lover
Will you be my one to love

Here we go then, you and I
When the evening's spread out against the sky
Here we go then, you and I
When the evening's spread out against the sky
And when it comes, the dawn
And at touch down time
You got to show me what's mine
Where do we belong
On any strange map, but I'll come back to that later on

Will you be my lover
Will you be my one to love
Will you be my lover
Will you be my one to love

Love is a beautiful thing
Yeah, we got the good days
And the great days comin'
Love is a beautiful thing
Yeah, we got the good days
And better days comin'

Will you be my lover
Will you be my one to love
Will you be my lover
Will you be my one to love
