Young Enough to Cry

Triumph

I've known a lot of women, baby, I've even loved a few
Some were good and some were bad, no one was just like you
Now they say I'm too old to get hurt in love, that ain't true
'Cause girl when you left me, you broke my heart right in twoI'm too old to get hurt baby, I'm too old to get hurt baby
I'm too old to get hurt baby, I'm too old to get hurt baby
Oh but I'm young enough, young enough to cryNow my head is spinning baby, just like a ferris wheel
Don't know what the matter babe, I think I see
A girl so sad and alone, can she be crying just like me?I'm too old to get hurt baby, I'm too old to get hurt baby
I'm too old to get hurt baby, I'm too old to get hurt baby
Oh but I'm young enough, young enough to cryNo matter how hard I try, I can't shake it baby
My mind keeps drifting away, you couldn't see a good thing
When you had it in your hand girl, maybe it was meant to be another dayAre you sure I'm the heartless one woman, after all we've been through?
I gave you the best of my love, sweet hoochie-koo
They say I was too old to get hurt in love, do you still think that's true?
'Cause girl when you left me, you broke my heart right in two

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/