Legacy

Kutless

Oh, the memories
Of all the thing that shouldn't be
They take you away from all you should be
Don't let it go by as if you agree
Nightmares of the past will fade away
The future of your name is what will stay
Never try to blame the past
For everything you say
You have the power you need
To change your legacy
Do you really want to be
Just like the very ones you blame
Who take you away from all you should be
Don't just stand by as if you agree
Nightmares of the past will fade away
The future of your name is what will stay
Never try to blame the past
For everything you say
You have the power you need
To change your legacy
Think of the future and when you are gone
How will you be remembered then
For all time you can be the one
Who changed the name
Who changed the name
Who changed the name
Who changed the name
Nightmares of the past will fade away
The future of your name is what will stay
Never try to blame the past
For everything you say
You have the power you need
To change your legacy
You have the power you need
To change your legacy
To change your legacy
To change your legacy
