

He Is Sinking, She Is the Sin Queen

Small Town Heroes

She paints her fingers red watching the steps she takes another breath of the cold air she's breathin' Inside he lies awake thinking this time he's made a mistake and he rewinds to the time when he thought she was worth it The scars that came from yesterday the time can wash away
but now he waits for fate to break his heart in every way He'll never be the same! He paints her picture grey as he makes up his mind to pack his bags and walk away She starts crying saying baby please don't leave It never ever meant a thing to me He stands alone and turns his head saying baby, I just cannot stay The scars that came from yesterday
the time can wash away
but now he waits for fate to break his heart
in every way He is sick of the whole routine and he's breaking at the seams Will he make it through the day is he better off this way? and now they're falling apart took two blows straight to the heart they'll never be the same agaaaaain Shards of glass from broken hearts wound the trust that tore apart broken pieces on the floor he can't take this anymore The scars that came from yesterday
the time can wash away
but now he waits for fate to break his heart
in every way He is sick of the whole routine
and he's breaking at the seams
He will make it through the day because he's better off this way

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>