

The Call

Killswitch Engage

The sound of footsteps approaching.
A storm of shadows reveal a figure forlorn.
Whispering voices that slither into our ears,
as temptation sings and beckons us to fall. Under the skin, the blood begins to crawl.
Rush to the heart, drain it from the soul.
Come face to face with all you can't escape.
Will you hold your ground or turn away? Release your, inhibitions, and answer to the call. The sun shines down to reveal a true image.
Salvation sings and shows us all we know.
The road is treacherous and lonely filled,
with the empty inventions of the soul.
Under disillusion, run from confrontation, or do we heed the judgement call? Release your, inhibitions, and answer to the call.
Leave behind this shell of flesh and bone.
In the end we will answer to the call. The burning question remains, how much is too much to give?
Do your wings have the strength to carry on?
When we see redemption, how long will we wait for deliverance?
It takes everything to keep from falling now.
Let go. Release your, inhibitions, and answer to the call.
Leave behind this shell of flesh and bone.
In the end we will answer to the call.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>