

Back to You

Alex & Sierra

Are you lonely? do you miss me anymore?
Is your heart as empty as these arms that used to hold you
Are you tired? are weaker than before?
Are you thinking? cause I've been thinking that there's something missing?
Hmm, it's you Oh wo-oh, it's you Now I'm without you
I'm feeling insecure about the little things
I guess the little things of what we lost
But all I remember brings me back to you and all those little things, I'm not anything without you I grew tired of all the empty promises
You had me up for play so high
Now I'm down in the ground and there's no one around
All this love that I gave to you
In your arms I asked you to kiss me
Over and over again Now I'm without you
I'm feeling insecure about the little things
I guess the little things of what we lost
But all I remember brings me back to you and all those little things, I'm not anything without you And your mind is wondering out the door
And your body's got no where to fall
And it seems so clear but your heart's not sure Now I'm without you
I'm feeling insecure about the little things
I guess the little things of what we lost
But all I remember brings me back to you and all those little things, I'm not anything without you But all I remember brings me back to you without those little things
When I anything

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>