

Life After Death (2009 Remastered Version)

Ian Hunter

Is there life, is there life?
Is there life after death?
Do you believe? Oh yeah!
Is there life, is there life?
Is there life after death?
Do you believe? Oh yeah! Do you stop take another roller coaster ride
Do I beg, steal, cheat or lie? Oh my is there life after death?
Oh I wish I'd never smoked so much
I wish I'd never felt the Devil's touch
All that passes through my eyes so fast. Oh my.
Is there life, is there life?
Is there life after death?
Do you believe? Oh yeah!
Is there life, is there life?
Is there life after death?
Do you believe? Oh yeah! It's such a sad sad song
Mother Nature ain't never wrong
She always tells you when you're getting on
Oh my, is there life after death? I can hardly wait to see my face
Will I still have one in a different place
Oh you'll forgive me if I hesitate, but oh my
Is there life, is there life?
Is there life after death? Do you believe? Oh yeah!
Is there life, is there life?
Is there life after death? Do you believe? Oh yeah! Is it any wonder, I feel just a little bit under
I hear choirs filled with Fenders say return to sender
Jumping information, I've got hyperventilation
Will it help me if I walk the streets
I gotta get down search around feel the ground by my feet Oh no I never knew just how long this could go
If only I could go down slow
I'm gonna shake it, shake it, shake it, is there life after death
I can't remember when I felt so sick and rough
And now they're gonna legalize the stuff
It sure tells you when you've had enough, off the cuff Is there life, is there life? Is there life after death? Do you believe? Oh yeah! Is there life, is there life? Is there life after death? Do you believe,
I've run out of breath.

Songwriters

Hunter, Ian Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>