

Flicker, Fade

Taking Back Sunday

If you should change your name, I'll love you just the same and if you should run away,
I would save your place
so you can go, go, go if you want to I wouldn't try and stop you but I couldn't say I blame you Flicker flicker fade, destroy what you create
and wonder why it always ends the same,
you wonder why it always ends the same
When I said "I hate that song" about fire and sex you love,
I couldn't tell you why, why I did it, why I lied and I know it's wrong, wrong, wrong it's evil but true it's what I want to make you
(so I can say I blame you) so I can say I blame you Flicker flicker fade, destroy what you create
and wonder why it always ends the same,
Flicker flicker fade, destroy what you create
and wonder why it always ends the same,
you wonder why it always ends,
you wonder why it always ends the same
You live your life, like you're not in control.
Like you're playing alone.
You live your life, like you're not in control.
Like you're playing all wrong.
You wonder why it always ends the same.
You wonder why it always ends (destroy what you create)
Wonder why it always ends
