

Never Take Friendship Personal

Anberlin

There's a hatchet, got a knife
When I awoke there was nothing real in this life
But dreams are so intoxicating
When you're doing this alone Gun, rope, brick on the way
But words have no meaning
When it's you that says, "I really do care"
No baby I, I really do care Innocence gone
Never take friendship personal
If you can't hold yourself together
Why should I hold you now? Innocence gone
Never take friendship personal
If you can't hold yourself together
Why should I hold you now? Once a skeptic, now the critic
And you figured you finally found a place of your own
Amongst the cold and timid souls
Where only failure knows your name Look around for the closest to blame
But look no further than the hands beneath your arms
And now you're six feet down
Buried with, with your passing fame, fame, fame Innocence gone
Never take friendship personal
If you can't hold yourself together
Why should I hold you now? Innocence gone
Never take friendship personal
If you can't hold yourself together
Why should I hold you now? Oh, oh, oh, you lie
Tell me something more than what you tried to hide
If you can't find yourself
Then how can I expect to find you Oh, oh, oh, you cry
Tell me something more than what you try
The greatest tragedy is not your death
But a life without reason, life has no purpose
Life has no reason, life has no purpose Innocence gone
Never take friendship personal
If you can't hold yourself together
Why should I hold you now? Innocence gone
Never take friendship personal
If you can't hold yourself together
Why should I hold you now? Innocence gone
Never take friendship personal

If you can't hold yourself together
Why should I hold you now?

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>