For the World

Shai Hulud

Poured myself out
I am the empty cup
My hope has died away
And my tolerance fadedHow can I keep stability
On such shaky ground?
Prayers that a smile
Will flag me downSadly I've learned there's no truth in comfort
Well being stems not from love
Anguish proves to be my only means of solace
Yet I want to be held by anyone with any armsI spend another morn alone
In a world that rejects me
A public unkind, laced with apathy
This one's for the world, "I hate you"
