

The Ambassadors (feat. South Rakkas Crew)

MC Zulu

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

Introducing the ambassadors of Caribbean CultureCHORUS

We got the East side crowd, bodies in motion

We got the West side crowd, bodies in motion

We got the North side crowd, bodies in motion

We got the South side crowd, Bodies in motionYour chance, big up the dance even though you never cared a damn about what the rest do

Bad man independent thoughts, individual tunes coming to your rescue

You never learned the moves, but the roots and culture benefitted you tremendous

Well I recommend, just jump in the middle of the crowd, you feel it? alright...Feel the peace and the love with the people a yard, and their friends abroad for one night

Watch how we deal with the different culturesCHORUSDon't chat, don't hand me that about how Dancehall don't make no sense or nothing.

Just step to the riddim groove, feel your body move, Caribbean youth, now we run things

Consider this an invitation but the nation treating it like a threat.

No time for the wickedness, whether you're the best or the worst inna dance don't fretSome of dem a talk how de gunshot bark, but we handle them with no sweat..

We are the ambassadors, don't forget.CHORUSSome youth gonna check this song when the nightlight's dim and the radio's on

Only God knows how far away we coulda send Reggae vibes so strong..

Still, notwithstanding we send our message to these places

No more hatred towards the different races, I'm saying this we got to make the changes

Alright?Hear the words I'm saying... Can you feel it? You know the business.

Just take you problems and fling them out the door, you should be dancing across the floor

Open your mind for a while and find your solution

CHORUS

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>