Small World

Madness

Funny, you're a stranger who's come here Come from another town Funny, I'm a stranger myself here Small world, isn't it? Funny, you're a man who goes traveling Rather than settling down Funny, 'cause I'd love to go traveling Small world, isn't it?We have so much in common It's a phenomenon We could pool our resources By joining forces from now onLucky, you're a man who likes children That's an important sign Lucky, I'm a woman with children Small world, isn't it? Funny, isn't it small and funny and fine? We have so much in common It's a phenomenon We could pool our resources By joining forces from now onLucky, you're a man who likes children

rces from now onLucky, you're a man who likes childre
That's an important sign
Lucky, you're a woman with children
Small world, isn't it?
Funny, isn't it?
Isn't it small and funny and fine?

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/