Something New

The Smithereens

It is time for something new
For us to do
So darling, dry your eyes
It's time for something new

It is time for something new
I still love you
We tried but it won't work
It's time for something new

Something new is what we need
Something new, we have agreed
It is time for us to look
For something new

Something new is what we need
Something new, we have agreed
It is time for us to look
For something new

Now it's time, for something new
I want a clue
Will hold you in his arms
It's time for something new

Something new, something new
It's something new
