

Lonely Road

Fernando Ortega

Well the sun has fallen
From the western sky,
House lights flicker on
As I travel by
On this lonely road,
I am far from my lover.

Oh, my lover's eyes,
They are blue and gray
Like the changing tides
In half moon bay,
And she fills my heart
Like the wind in an open sail.

She's my song in the evening.
A clear voice
That calms me in the dark,
Let this lonely road
Take me home to my lover.

There's a chill tonight,
The late year lies down,
While the crickets call
Outside my hotel room.
By a firelight
She is waiting for me.

She's my song in the evening
A clear voice
That calms me in the dark,
And I belong there beside her
Where the waves break
Blue beneath the stars.
Let this lonely road
Take me home to my lover.
