

Love

Jana Kramer

I still believe in fairy-tales
I still believe in picking flowers
I still believe in getting lost in someone's eyes
And talking for hours I still believe in shooting stars
I still believe in midnight drives
And butterflies you give right before you kiss
For the very first time Love how many times can a heart break
And love how much weight can soul take
And love I don't know where you ran off to
But love, love, love
I still believe in you I still believe in miracles
I still believe in wedding rings and bibles
I still believe the best walk you'll ever take is Walking down the isle Love how many times can a heart break
And love how much weight can soul take
And love I don't know where you ran off to
But love, love, love
I still believe in you
Yeah, I still believe in you
I still believe that you'll come knocking on the door
When I least expect you to,
You give me something I can hold
You pull me through, 'cause that's what you do
That's what you do, love
Yeah, that's what you do, love Love how many times can a heart break
And love how much weight can soul take
And love I don't know where you ran off to
But love, love, love
Ooh love, love, love,
I still believe in you
I still believe in you
Yeah I still believe in you
