

We're Strangers Again (With Tammy Wynette)

Randy Travis

First we were strangers, down on our luck
And both in need of a friend
We promised each other too much, to live up to
And now, were strangers again I came like a stranger and you took me in
And I felt at home in your arms
We had nothing but good times as long as the sun shines
But we just couldn't weather the storms You came like a stranger and I took you in
And you gave me some reasons to live
I gave the good times and you gave the sunshine
Till we ran out of good things to give Now we are strangers, back down on our luck
And both in need of a friend
We promised each other, too much to live up to
And now were strangers again, strangers again

Songwriters

WILLIAMS, LEONA / HAGGARD, MERLE Published by

Lyrics © Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>