

Every Cell

Arthur Beatrice

That mouth is just cut skin
Your nose is simply cautelous
And eyes are a mirrors?
You're beautiful
Than wanting something hollow
Was it to gave those features the strength?
Put my heart to a decent attempt
And has there been so much change or just I'm making sense?Nowadays you look different to me
But not in a way that anyone else could see
Things have come into fists
The voice that was caught as a glass breaking pitch
A body that's lost of our life
Out of glass there is nothing left of what I left behindEvery cell is new
Every cell in your body
Every cell is new
Every cell in your body
Similar side? of a new human being
Slides of changing is bitter to me
No I haven't seen you for years
Not seen you for yearsThings have come into fists
The voice that was caught as a glass breaking pitch
A body that's lost of our life, and
Out of glass there is nothing left of what I left behind
Every cell is you
Every cell in your body
Every cell is you
Every cell in your body
Every cell is you
Every cell in your body
Every cell is you
Every cell in your bodyNowadays you look different to me
But not in a way that anyone else could see
Nothing that I love has lost it
Nothing that I can force shine trough anymore
Time will heal you as it passesEvery cell is you
Every cell in your body
Every cell is you
Every cell in your body

Every cell is you
Every cell in your body
Every cell is you
Every cell in your body
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>