I Won't Say I'm Sorry

Face to Face

Make up your mind
Are you really becoming this?
Are you going along to get along?
I hope I got it wrongYou know I've tried
And it's hard for me to resist
There's a point to be made and a line to cross
Doesn't matter what it costsAm I supposed to be afraid?
Should I be careful what I say?
You never listened anyway
It doesn't make a differenceI won't say I'm sorry
I won't take back a single word
This is exactly how I feel
I won't say I'm sorry
Take me exactly at my word
It doesn't matter how you feelYou're out of line
But instead I'm the one to blame
And I'm sickened by how we buy the lie
And no one seems to mindI can't see things the way
You meant for them to be
I must be blind
On this, I think we both agree
