Enemy

Angel Olsen

I need advice it's true but I won't hear it from you I don't remember when you last cared for the things I didI wish I could believe apply all the sides you've seen or you could be the only one who knows the truth of meam I the ugly one it's easy to see past all of the kindness that you've offered me it doesn't lastit's just a thought I've had if I could show you how I came to think this way maybe you'd understand me nowsometimes our enemies are closer than we think sometimes the ones we trust may have to give up listeningI wish it were the same as it is in my mind I'd lie to learn a thing or two give me a reason whywhy am I not ashamed while I am standing still you want to move in me like you did before but I've had my fillyou say your time has changed that you have faced defeat we might be older now but is it changing anythingit could be in a way we've learned to carry well oh how I wish I could remove this doubt I feel somehowI want the best for you so I won't look your way maybe the clouds will clear and I'll be seeing you somedayI wish it were the same
as it is in my mind
I am lighter on my feet when I've left some things behind

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/