Hazen Street

It's written like the ink stains on my skin
The good book will tell that I have sinned
Well, I'm past that point of no return
So I hope that I don't burn, noI've done some bad, I must admit
My life is different then you see fit
But let's not judge me just yet
'Cause I'm not finished with this lifeAnd only God can judge meWe lead but never follow, not like you
And I will never live by your rules, no
We lead but never follow you, no not you
Your words to me are shallow
They're just like youThey're just like youWell, I've never been proud of my mistakes
But I'm proud of who I am today
You're still lookin' down on me
'Cause I wear my heart on my sleeveAnd I've done some bad, I must admit
There is some truth to what you think
But let's not judge me just yet
'Cause I'm not finished with this lifeAnd only God can judge meWe lead but never follow, not like you
And I will never live by your rules, no
We lead but never follow you, no not you
Your words to me are shallow
They're just like youI rise above you, I rise above you
I rise above you, I rise above you
And only God can judge meWe lead but never follow, not like you
And I will never live by your rules, no
We lead but never follow you, no not you
Your words to me are shallow
They're just like youIt's written like the ink stains on my skin
The good book will tell that I have sinned
Well, I'm past that point of no return
So I hope that I don't burn, noI've done some bad, I must admit
My life is different then you see fit
But let's not judge me just yet
'Cause I'm not finished with this life
