The Weather Song

Ought

Tell me what to do and when to feel alive
'Cause what you're pushing's keeping me in time
Now that we are high with a limit on life
And what you're pushing's keeping you in time now
The limits on the inside, and there's no inside at all
And there's nothing keeping you from shouting out loud
That you believe in more than keeping time with life
And there's nothing keeping you from shouting to the wallOver it all that I just wanna revel in your lies
Does it any way too
Yeah I just wanna revel in your lies
Does it any way too
We got to thinking we won't take it anymore
We won't take it anymore, take it anymore
Yeah I just wanna revel in your lies
Does it any way too
We're tied to the floor and then back to the wall
Then everything is down and there's no up at allTell me what the weather's like so I don't have to go outside
And I'll shut up and spend a week inside my head
When you cannot find, find yourself at night
Well don't bother mentioning you think it's cold tonight
Or that you believe in more than keeping time with life
And the education's wrapped in the medication
Or that time again until the feeling's gone
And there's nothing keeping you from shouting to the wallOver it all that I just wanna revel in your lies
Does it any way too
Yeah I just wanna revel in your lies
Does it any way too
We got to thinking we won't take it anymore
We won't take it anymore take it anymore
Yeah I just wanna revel in your lies
Does it any way too
They're tied to the floor and then back to the wall
Then everything is down and there's no up at allTell me what to do and when to feel alive
And tell me what the weather's like so I don't have to go outside
And I, yeah I think there's something that you missed, went like this
That I believe in more than keeping time with life
And the education's wrapped in the medication
And that time again until the feeling's gone
And that there's nothing keeping me from shouting to the wallOver it all that I just wanna revel in your lies

Does it any way too
Yeah I just wanna revel in your lies
Does it any way too
Yeah we got to thinking we won't take it anymore
We won't take it anymore, take it anymore
Yeah I just wanna revel in your lies, does it any way tooDoesn't even matter if we won't say it anymore
We won't take it anymore take it anymore
Does it any way too
Does it any way tooYeah we got to thinking we won't take it anymore
We won't take it anymore, take it anymore
Does it any way too
Does it any way too now
