

Traveling Boy

Paul Williams

Wake up my love beneath the midday sun
Alone, once more alone.
This travelinâ€™ boy was only passinâ€™ through,
But he will always think of you.

One night of love beside a strange young smile,
As warm as I have known.
The travelinâ€™ boy and only passinâ€™ through,
But one whoâ€™ll always think of you.

Take my place out on the road again
I must do what I must do.
Yes, I know we were lovers but a drifter discovers,
That a perfect love wonâ€™t always last forever.

Well I wonâ€™t say that Iâ€™ll be back again,
But time will tell the tale.
So no goodbyes from one just passinâ€™ through,
But one whoâ€™ll always think of you.

Take my place out on the road again,
I must do what I must do.
Yes, I know we were lovers but a drifter discovers,
That a perfect love wonâ€™t always last forever.

Well I wonâ€™t say that Iâ€™ll be back again,
But time will tell the tell.
So no goodbyes from one just passinâ€™ through,
But one whoâ€™ll always think of you.

This travelinâ€™ boy was only passinâ€™ through,
But I will always think of you.
