

Sweet Disposition

Phoebe Snow

You have got a sweet disposition
Warm like the oven in my mother's kitchen
I've subscribed to your religion
Let us share some love There's a rainbow of light about you
Now I know I can't live without you
If you need me, you don't have to shout
Just hang out here and share some love
Just hang out here and share some love Oh, won't you play for me?
Oh, on your telephone?
Oh, you're the king of hearts
Can I share your throne? Your eyes are green, but they're so blue
They seem so dark, but bright
Don't get angry with me, Joe Cool
I'll behave tonight My heart
Beats in every room
'Cause you said
You would see me soon Oh, oh loyal reds
Oh, oh bashful blues
Oh, can you tell me
Have I paid my dues? Success is not a valentine
A drug is not a cure
The fact that you just might be mine
Is my first prize, I'm sure My heart
Beats in every room
'Cause you said
You would see me soon You have got a sweet disposition
Warm like the oven in my mothers' kitchen
I've subscribed to your religion
Let us share some love
Let us share some love
