

Avoid The Friction

Diffuser

My generation as nation has a reputation for looking out for themselves
Obnoxious and self-righteous

I realize the warning sings are so alive since I heard

Your friends have been talking shit

And now you bite your lipDon't tell me to avoid the friction

I'm one step closer to infliction

Why are your actions contradictory

Of the words that you sayI've seen your kind a million times and still I find the one thing

That you could never get around

The repercussion turns you out

Your ignorance and arrogance ignite a tolerance

That pushes me to react

I think your better watch your backSo typical to say the words you say

Then shuffle around the blame

I think you better walk away

Before I get in your face
